Facilitator: Kirsten Taylor, Assistant City Manager, City of Mercer Island.

A welcome to those present, an outline of the retreat, and introductions was followed by a short icebreaker.

History of the Arts Council: Amber Britton gave a power point presentation of the history of the Arts Council from its inception to the present. She also distributed information on documented past ideas of programs and projects Arts Council members have been interested in.

Budget: Amber distributed expense and revenue statements of the current budget. She explained that revenue is the projected income from gallery sales, shows, programs, etc. The Arts Council has to try to meet these goals. Expenses are the amounts allocated to the Arts Council by the City Council. This amount, $37,720, was the same for 2015 and 2016.

Work Plan: There are expenses associated with what you want to do. The work plan should reflect this. It goes to the City Council for their approval. Once approved, any large changes or deviations have to go back to the City Council via an agenda bill for approval.

Today's goal is to come up with a work plan to tell the city council what the Arts Council is going to do this year.

Facilitator Kirsten Taylor commented that it is amazing what the Arts Council is able to accomplish each year. Past Arts Council members have had a particular interest or passion and they were able to take the lead on projects or programs they that matched their passion or interest and make it happen. She then asked members present what are their passions and interests.
