STUDY SESSION

AB 6893: Compliance with Growth Management Hearings Board Order – Follow-Up Discussion on Financing Affordable Housing

Community Planning and Development (CPD) Director Jeff Thomas and Community Attributes Senior Economist Elliott Weiss reviewed the two phases of the compliance strategy for complying with the ruling by the Growth Management Hearings Board that the City must make changes to its Comprehensive Plan to comply with the Washington State Growth Management Act (GMA) by addressing the following four issues: land capacity, adequate provisions, transit station subarea plan, and anti-displacement policies.

They presented strategies for financing affordable housing including dedicating surplus property, enacting a local sales and use tax of up to 0.1 percent, dedicating general fund resources or using local resources to access additional funds to support a project, often through grants or loans. They also reviewed inclusionary Zoning which requires a percentage of units in a development project to meet an affordability requirement and fee in lieu which allows all or a portion of inclusionary zoning requirement to be met through paying a fee rather than including the affordable units in the development project.

Immediate next steps include a Community Information Session scheduled for March 10 and a Public Feedback Period that will occur through March 13. The City Council will continue reviewing public input and policy direction through spring and summer 2026 to meet the GMHB compliance deadline.

REGULAR BUSINESS

AB 6880: Public Hearing on Interim Regulations in MICC 19.16.010 Related to Emergency Shelters and Housing, Transitional Housing, and Permanent Supportive Housing (Ordinance No. 26-02, First Reading)

Mayor Rosenbaum opened the public hearing at 6:02 pm.

There being no public comment, Mayor Rosenbaum closed the public hearing at 6:02 pm.

CPD Director Jeff Thomas and Senior Planner Molly McGuire presented Ordinance No. 26-02 to extend the current interim regulations that amend provisions of the Mercer Island City Code related to emergency shelters, transitional housing, and permanent supportive housing to remain compliant with Washington House Bill 1220 for an additional six months.

They explained that the City Council originally adopted interim regulations in September 2021 to meet state requirements that prohibit cities from restricting these types of housing in certain residential or hotel-permitted zones and require reasonable siting regulations that do not limit the ability to meet projected housing needs. These interim rules, which govern definitions and siting of social service transitional housing and special needs group housing, have been renewed multiple times and are set to expire on April 2, 2026.

It was moved by Weinberg; seconded by Reynolds to:

Schedule Ordinance No. 26-02 for second reading on March 17, 2026

AB 6881: Review of City Facility Strategy Community Survey Results

City Manager Jessi Bon, Senior Management Analyst Robbie Cunningham Adams, and Ian Stewart, with Fulcrum Strategy Group, presented the results of a statistically valid resident survey conducted in January 2026 to gather community input following the failure of the November 2025 bond measure to fund a proposed Public Safety and Maintenance Facility, which received 54.61% voter approval but did not meet the 60% threshold required for passage.

The survey, developed with input from a Council Ad-Hoc Committee and conducted between January 28 and February 11, 2026, completed 400 interviews with a representative sample of residents, producing a margin of error of $\pm 4.9\%$. Staff further reported that the results, along with responses from an additional open community survey that was available to all residents through March 1, would help inform future policy discussions and facility replacement strategies, including consideration of a potential future bond measure as early as November 2026. It was noted that the survey findings would serve as one component of the City's broader community engagement effort regarding long-term public safety and maintenance facility planning.

AB 6872: Sustainability Work Program Annual Update

Chief of Operations Jason Kintner, Public Works Deputy Director Kelly Hilde, and Sustainability Program Manager Alanna DeRogatis provided an update on progress implementing the Sustainability Program Work Plan for the 2025–2026 biennium, which advances the goals of the City's Mercer Island Climate Action Plan adopted in 2023. Staff explained that the plan outlines 59 actions across six focus areas designed to help the City meet greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction targets of 50% by 2030 and 95% by 2050 compared to 2007 levels. Currently, 76% of CAP actions are underway or ongoing. They noted that the 2024 GHG inventory showed community-wide emissions declined slightly (0.7%) compared to 2023 and are now 8% below the 2007 baseline, while municipal emissions decreased by 14% due largely to operational changes.

Sustainability Program Manager DeRogatis further reported that major initiatives during the biennium included development of an Electric Vehicle Charging Infrastructure Plan funded through a grant from the Washington State Department of Commerce, implementation of a municipal fleet electrification strategy, expansion of the Energy Smart Eastside heat pump incentive program, and a successful community Green Power Challenge in partnership with Puget Sound Energy that exceeded participation goals and secured funding for a community solar project.

Sustainability Program Manager DeRogatis noted that key upcoming efforts include completing the EV Charging Infrastructure Plan, developing an environmentally preferable purchasing policy, advancing energy efficiency upgrades such as a potential electrified HVAC replacement at the Mercer Island Community and Event Center, and supporting compliance with state building performance standards.

AB 6836: Electric Vehicle Charging Plan Development Update

Chief of Operations Jason Kintner, Public Works Deputy Director Kellye Hilde, Sustainability Program Manager Alanna DeRogatis, and Eleanor Garrett, with EXP U.S. Services, explained that the City is developing an Electric Vehicle (EV) Charging Infrastructure Plan to support transportation-related greenhouse gas reductions identified in the Mercer Island Climate Action Plan adopted in 2023. With $100,000 in funding from a Climate Planning Grant provided by the Washington State Department of Commerce, the City began work on the plan in 2025 with consulting support from EXP U.S. Services, Inc. and ElectroTempo.

The first phase, completed in June 2025, focuses on electrifying the City's municipal fleet and includes a long-term transition strategy evaluating costs, emissions reductions, and infrastructure needs. Analysis indicates that fully electrifying the fleet would require approximately 64 charging ports across the City's municipal facilities and could generate an estimated $1.2 million in net savings over time due to reduced fuel and maintenance costs, despite higher upfront vehicle and infrastructure investments.

The next phase of the plan, currently underway and expected to be completed in June 2026, will expand the strategy to address community-wide EV charging infrastructure and support broader EV adoption. This work includes forecasting EV adoption rates, identifying priority locations for new public charging stations, evaluating grid capacity in coordination with Puget Sound Energy, and exploring policies to encourage charging installation at commercial and multifamily properties. The plan will also consider innovative strategies such as vehicle-to-building charging, solar integration, and battery storage to improve energy resilience. Once finalized, the EV Charging Infrastructure Plan will guide future investments, partnerships, and policy decisions to expand charging access, support municipal fleet electrification, and advance Mercer Island's long-term climate and emissions reduction goals.
